

To Whom It May Concern:

In reference to RM-10620, it is, in my opinion, not worthy of the Amateur Radio community to consider this petition and the FCC should dismiss it in it's entirety. Anyone with 20 or more years of Amateur Radio experience that wishes to upgrade their license can easily do so by taking a simple test.

Upgrading someone too lazy to take that simple test would only degrade the quality of Amateur Radio. There should be no consideration of grand fathering any privileges for any class license.

Sincerely,
George Boswell
